Towns County Schools are back in session.

More than 1,000 students were greeted by faculty, staffers and administration when they arrived at the doorsteps of the elementary, middle and high schools on Thursday.

New Schools Superintendent Melissa Williams got to meet a lot of new faces on Thursday, the first day of school within the system. Everyone was all smiles as they welcomed the new Schools Chief to Towns County.

At Towns County High School, it was a wonderful day on Thursday.

"Everything went smoothly," said Towns County High School Principal Roy Perren. "It's been a great start. It's gone very smooth. There are always some schedule changes at the beginning of the year, but it's been a really good start to the school year."

Perren said there was nothing dramatic to the first few days of classroom activity.

"It's our prayers that the rest of the year will go this smoothly," Perren said. "We've got great kids and a great community."

At Towns County Middle School, Principal Darren Berrong was pleased with the opening days of school.

"Things have gone pretty smooth, of course this year is a little different than the others," Berrong said. "We've had several changes over the first few days of school. Erica Chastain, who was the middle school counselor last year, was just ap-

Pain at The Pump continues

Northeast Georgia gas prices well above the norm as oil prices tumble

Oil prices continue to plunge as investors shift gears from the commodity, to gold and U.S. Treasury Bonds following the recent selloff on Wall Street.

Gold skyrocketed to more than $1,754 an ounce on Tuesday while oil opened Tuesday morning at $78 a barrel, the cheapest it's been in almost a year.

However, the price at the gas pumps, especially in Northeast Georgia, continues to stay well above prices at convenience stores south of Atlanta.

Locally and throughout most of Northeast Georgia, a gallon of gasoline is costly.

In Towns County on Tuesday morning, the cheapest gallon of gas was at Cash Gas, off Georgia 76 near the Friendship Commu-

The Georgia Mountain Moonshine Cruize-In kicks off Thursday at 5:30 p.m. with the Third Haulin' Mash Moonshine Bash at The Ridges Resort and Marina.

More than 10,000 people are expected to converge on Towns County during the Third Annual Georgia Mountain Moonshine Cruize-In, which concludes on Saturday.

The Ridges Resort & Marina General Manager Chad Hooper says the 2011 event is going to be bigger and better than last year.

Double the cars, double the enthusiasm and most business owners are banking on bringing in double the money.

Linda Vaughn, better known for a 20-year stretch as "Miss Hurst Golden Shifter," and the "First Lady of Drag Racing," will be at the 2011 Cruize-in on Friday and Saturday. The 2011 event also features a huge auto swap meet and car corral.

There'll be plenty of music to go around; Steven Phillips and the Midnight Express, the Lisa Price Band and Elvis Impersonator Bill Brooks will all be on hand at the event.

Recent severe thunder storms have caused damage to local businesses and the Towns County Detention Center following a series of lightning strikes.

Though the storms have brought some much needed rain to the area, they've also wreaked havoc.

Towns County Sheriff Chris Clinton reports that lightning struck the Towns County Detention Center. No one was injured, but some expensive electronic equipment was damaged following a lightning strike.

The Towns County Herald also reports some equipment damage linked to the recent barrage of lightning, Publisher Kenneth West reports.

Public Safety workers were summoned to McDonald's in Hiawassee related to the storms.

More storms are expected this week.
