Change is... Fill in the blank with a word you will not be afraid to use. Change is constant. Change is difficult, frightening, and sometimes sweeping. It is often, however, a slow and steady change. How we deal with the pressure of change determines the quality of life we will live. We think about the future.

Fear of change is the fear of the unknown. We can try to control and manipulate our environments. We can even control our attitudes and what we think and say about the world we are in. The consequences of this are important. We can listen to some of the best minds in the world and make our decisions accordingly. We can spend a lot of time and energy trying to make decisions that are sound. This can lead to the development of a "we-think" attitude. If we are not fortunate enough to have this kind of attitude, or if we are not willing to put in the time and effort, then we can be labelled as people who are not committed to the development of their own personal and public lives.
