...from Page 1

"I think people are ready to put the past behind them, Perren said. "I think the membership is ready to move forward. I think the vote today was about transparency, I think it was about opening the meeting process. I support both measures." Cummings echoed Per-

"We need to get down to business," Cummings said. "Winning an election is one thing, but doing what needs to be done is something else. That will be the most difficult

The task at hand is to put into practice what the membership has voiced to those they supported in the director races,

"We as a board have to go into this remembering why we were elected," Cummings said. "We were elected for a number of reasons. Being as transparent as possible, answering people's questions, and addressing financial con-

"There is a lot of work that needs to be done and I'm on a real steep learning curve, Cummings said. "I've been told it takes a while to get the hang of things. So, I'll be working hard to get up to speed and make a contribution.

Interim EMC General Manager Dan Brewer said it's unclear how long the healing process will take. He said it was imperative to restore stability prior to beginning the search for a new general manager.

vinced that it is imperative that we move quickly to provide stability to the EMC.

rounding the EMC.' Brewer said that if the a national search for a new general manager, the search will take six months from beginning to end. It is also imperative to restore the stability before Hiawassee...from Page 1 the city would consider using control over its water system. "The judge found that "It's something we will consider, but we'll need a proposal. This was kind of a first presentation," said Stancil. "Give us a proposal, give us a contract and policy, so we can actually look at what it says. I think the issue is the council has an enthusiasm to provide more services to the people of the city.

"You want to make sure that you're providing services for citizens," Stancil went on. "If you have a home here but don't live here full time, are you including that? Who do you qualify? But I think it's something they're very interested in pursuing and looking at, there's just a lot of questions that need to be answered. And I think it's important that they get all the answers to questions.

Also at the Hiawassee Committee meeting, an interlocutory injunction regarding Noel and Jan Waite's case against the city was available. The case is important because it determines whether the city has

She raised a concern, and in Georgia, you can't raise rates watch the documentaries now that have come together over the years, you can watch how calmly those men walked into that building with their gear on and their tools," said Chief the chief, who was wearing his New York Fire Department shirt instead of his usual Towns the 10th anniversary, of being in Indianapolis, Indiana, with Chief Ray Downey's sons, who are both battalion chiefs on Fire was able to attend school at the

And the legacy of the Sept. 11 attacks is not lost on Sept. 11, when you watch the news they name every name of every person starting in alphabetical order that perished in that fire, all 3,000 folks. When you hear their family members give it, some of them are so touching, because some of them are children that didn't know their granddaddies. I find that just to be one of the most amaz-

Every Sept. 11, it's like the bombing of Pearl Harbor. This day will live in infamy, always will. So it's a day of great sadness, but at the same time, it's a day of great pride, just overwhelming pride,"

'It's just a great memorial.

ing things ever," he said.

"It means a lot to our fire-

"Every morning, every

National Fire Academy.

men," he said.

Chief Copeland.

The date is personal for

"I had the pleasure, on

Copeland.

County uniform.

are not," Mayor Gibby said.

9/11...from Page 1

As all necessary business was covered during the the city owns and operates its water system and we never delegated control of our water or sewer system to anybody. By resolution the city granted connections for water and sewer to that the city did nothing improper, the ruling found that the city of Hiawassee has full authority to grant water and sewer connections to Kenneth Stine pursuant to the resolution that was passed.

Therefore, the Waites lacked standing to seek any injunctive relief against the city of Hiawas-and its council maintain that the city has full authority to do full planning within the city limits. The next hearing will determine who has the legal authority to do planning within the city between the city and That is just the first part

The city of Hiawassee

see, Stancil said.

of the case.

Because the judge found Kenneth Stine," Stancil said.

gineer to help us look at things. cord at Young Harris City

In addition to these rate increases, the fee for late payments will be increased from 10 percent to 20 percent. The reconnection fee will be in-committee meeting, the city council was free to quickly pass regulations at the regularly scheduled council meeting on to approve the Georgia Mountain Regional Commission to staff and to prepare the 2010 comprehensive plan update for effect what has been in effect since 2010," explained Mayor Barbara Mathis. "It has been our policy for all of these years.

and along the way we have not followed those exactly, so now we're going to be following it resolution approving the Water, Sewer, and Grease Trap Approval and Conditions for Paci's Pizza Restaurant that will be ed Teresa Kelley as Deputy ployee and we look forward to putting her in this position," said Mayor Mathis.

Next, the city passed a

Finally, the city appoint-

"She's a very good em-

the city of Hiawassee.

more closely.'

opening soon.

The first was a resolution

"We're just putting into Tuesday, Sept. 1.

of appreciation to the Ensley Family. Photo/Lowell Nicholson "Where do we go from we begin the search," Brewer here, and how in the world do said. "It is very unlikely that we get there?" Brewer asked. "I believe that the turmoil that surrounds the EMC has created an environment where our employees can't focus on doing They are wondering if they will have jobs tomorrow," You've got a great group of employees," Brewer told the membership. "They have a high level of skill and dedication. It is impossible for them to perform their jobs with the amount of turmoil sur-

EMC Board of Directors does

Brasstown Manor and Chatuge of the annual meeting.

a highly qualified candidate would step into the CEO position with the kind of instability that exists here at Blue Ridge unpleasant part of our history behind us and move the organization forward as quickly as possible," Brewer said. "I'm hopeful that the conclusion of this annual meeting will be the turning point to head in the portion of the annual meeting at Anderson Music Hall, retiring President Bill Prather introduced past President Lenny Parks, who presented a plaque of appreciation to the family of the late EMC Board Member Randall Collins and the Carte-cay River Band provided entertainment for the membership prior to the business portion

The Georgia Fiddler

Prior to the business

"It is time to put an

Mountain EMC.

right direction."

Bob Ensley.

'I definitely want to send a big thank you to all of the sponsors, because they support us," said Thomason. "Some of them gave cash and some of them gave other things she'd like to see every seat in "Bring your mother, bring your sister, bring your husband if he likes to cook," said Cunningham. "Where can you go and pay $15 and be entertained for two hours on a Saturday night? For $15, you're entertained for two hours, and these recipes are recipes that anybody would cook in their home. Not gourmet – it's just food we all eat every day.'

Taste...from Page 1

Those interested in attending should arrive when the doors open at 4 p.m., as the sponsors of the show will be displaying their wares. "We have about a dozen vendors that are going to be set up, showcasing their products that are going to be of interest to the people that come to this show," said Cunningham. "People will be able to come early, browse around, see what's for sale, and everybody that comes is going to get a goody bag. The goody bag will have a lot of neat products in the bag. "Everybody that comes will get two Taste of Home Magazines in their bag, and Chef Roberts will say (for example) turn to page 15, and they'll get to follow along with the recipe that she's prepar-Sponsoring vendors for the show are Chatuge Medical Supply, Taste of Home Cooking School, Milton Food Service, Ray Shuey with Stainless Steel Cookware, Ingles, Lake Chatuge Lodge, United Community Bank, The Cherie Show/ETC TV3, High End Cookware, Rhineland Cutlery Knives, Jamie Stewart Lifetime Stainless Steel Cookware, Pink Ladies, Rodan and Fields, Regional Hospital Auxiliary.

as well.'

The Hall filled.

it's something new.

Costa Rica...from Page 1

"I've always wanted to go to Costa Rica as a biology teacher, but I just never got the opportunity. Šo I just want the kids to feel what it's like to give back, because Costa Rica is No. 1 in ecotourism. I want the kids to understand that we are part just the United States, there's everybody else involved," she

As a biology teacher, Moss' main interest will be the wide array of biological diversity in Costa Rica, but the trip will offer insights into more than just science. Moss and Jennifer Hogsed, the Spanish teacher, hope to offer the students a look at cultural diversity.

"I'd like for the kids to through the Spanish class going with us," said Moss. "I'm not Spanish-speaking, but they are, they speak Spanish, and they can interact in Spanish through that component of cultural diversity, too. We're even going to plant a tree in the rainforest of a global network, it's not one day, so I want the kids to experience that.'

Hogsed agreed. For her Spanish class, the trip will be an opportunity to show off their leaving in 2016 on March 31 linguistic skills and to pick up to have cultural interaction and language usage. We're hoping to take the kids in afternoons after we've done our excursions or whatever for the day, take them out to some of the local understand different cultures markets or grocery stores and get them to interact with some of the locals and use some of their Spanish and just learn a little more about the culture in the areas," said Hogsed.

'We're trying to merge the two, so the kids are getting an educational experience related to biology and be able to include some of that, but also the language and culture," Hogsed added.

The students will be and returning on April 8.

"This is the chance of a 'We're looking at getting lifetime, and kids in Hiawassee don't get out of this area much, so I want to open that door," said Moss. "And these are really good kids, so I want to give them that opportunity. So, I'm willing to work hard for them.

As for Cunningham,

Department of New York. Chief Ray Downey was 64 years old and only two or three months away from retiring from the fire department, and he went in with his men and perished in the fire," he said. On the 10th anniversary of the attacks, Chief Copeland

City hopes to raise funds for Ambassador Program

By Mason Mitcham Towns County Herald Staff Writer

Hiawassee needs the help of its residents. Mayor Barbara Mathis recently released an open letter to the public to inform residents that the city is forming a committee to raise a special projects fund that will go toward beautifying the city, especially during holidays. "Committee members will raise private funds for projects not normally the responsibility of local governments," the letter reads. "We have set a goal of $10,000 and are already past the midpoint in contributions received.

This committee will be known as the Hiawassee Ambassador's program, an idea that has been in the works for some time. The program is in its infancy right now, but Mayor Mathis hopes that it will grow.

"Our goal is set for $10,000 for decorations on the square, and we're going to have a group of people that we have already organized trying to work on this to where we can get donations through businesses and individuals, anyone who's willing to give us donations to help us to where we can have the Christmas tree,' she said. "And we're looking forward to that this year, but we need more decorations for the square and for the tree and

The Ambassadors Program will work toward improving the appearance of the city at all times, not just during holidays, but right now the holidays are a priority. For example, Mathis is hoping to have a festive tree lighting event on the square this year.

We've never had a tree lighting just designated for the square," she explained. "Last year, we had one, we put it together very quickly, and the tree had just been moved from a different location and moved on the square and we didn't have enough decorations to make it look really good, so this year we're hoping to have more decorations and have a tree that looks really good, and make something big.

Afterwards, she hopes that the city will be able to host a small gathering, open to the "We really want to have some kind of little get together in the gazebo after the parade with hot chocolate and such as that for our people that are there for the tree lighting," she said.

In addition, the Ambassadors Program will work with the Hiawassee Adopt-a-Street prevention.

"We envision clean city streets and sidewalks as a way to become a more appealing place to stop and shop," the letter reads.

The Adopt-a-Street program allows private citizens to take responsibility for the said Mayor Mathis.

get something going to where we can make the city more beautiful and try to help it look real good at all different times like during the holidays," she added. "You really look at the holidays because people want to pass through town and see beautiful decorations and all. We have the tree out there this year that we can decorate that was moved last year, and we cleanliness of their own community. "There's a lot of people that have been interested in adopting a street, and if people could adopt the street maybe that they live on, and make sure that they keep it clean and all," 'So we're going to try to lem, because with elections comwant to have enough ornaments on it to where it will look program for litter cleanup and real good."

"She has been great for parts of her new job, and will arbitrarily, that's true, but ours The rates are public recreased from $25 to $75. Season cutoffs will be required to pay the minimum bill monthly, plus pay the reconnection fee.

Young Harris...from Page 1

ed to be clear that, for him, the memorial served to underscore his sense of duty to Towns County and to his own fire department.

"I'm just proud to be a fireman. Every day is great day to be a fireman," he said. Towns County Sheriff Chris Clinton felt the effects of the attacks in similar ways. "I do recall, just like anybody, pretty much exactly where I was and what I was doing on Sept. 11, 2001," he said. He had just gotten off duty as a patrol officer and was going to bed for the day when his wife called him in to see what was happening on "I was watching the coverage and speculating about what had happened when the second plane hit, and I remember just looking at her and saying that I had to do something. So I just went back and got my uniform on and went into work. And that's just what we do, in public safety, you feel like you have to do something,"

"I don't think there was a law enforcement officer or a fireman or an EMS worker anywhere in the United States sleeping at that point. It really hit home because terrorism is something we were aware of and we battled it overseas, and this was a significant event because this was really a full scale attack and they brought it to our shores," he said.

He added that Sept. 11 is a significant day for Towns County law enforcement in another way, as on that day in 1981, Towns County Sheriff's Deputy James Taylor died in the line of duty.

Towns County Sole Commissioner Bill Kendall stopped by to pay his respects to the 9/11

"I remember when it happened. That was a terrible time, and it brought the nation together in a way it hadn't been together in a long time. It just makes you proud you're an American. And I think of all the sacrifices that the soldiers over the centuries have made for that flag, and we need to keep honoring it and keep it flying,"

Chief Copeland also want-Kelley named Hiawassee deputy clerk

By Shawn Jarrard Towns County Herald Staff Writer

Teresa Kelley has been with Hiawassee City Hall for four years as a billing clerk, and at the September meeting of the Hiawassee City Council, she was named deputy clerk.

"I still do a lot of the prior duties, and now I help Cenlya Galloway, the city clerk, with her chores, and try to make it a little bit easier for her," said Kelley. "We do open records requests and whatever comes in that she needs some help with."

Kelley is no stranger to the city or the county, as she was born a Mashburn in Young Harris and grew up in Hiawassee, and graduated from the old Towns County High School. Prior to working at city hall, she and her husband, Phil, owned a construction business, and Hiawassee Mayor Barbara Mathis was glad to have taken her on board four years ago and equally glad to expand Kelley's duties now. 'We came across a probing up, Cenlya's going to need some help," said Mayor Mathis. been tasked. "Teresa had helped us out before at the council meetings, and she's helped us in a lot of situations. Also, we've been receiving a lot of requests for open records, and Teresa has really played a big hand in getting the open records together for these people, in assisting (City will be attending classes in the Manager) Rick Stancil and Cenlya near future that concentrate on doing that, and she's a great employee. We needed a deputy to fill in in the event that Cenlya was out for some reason – you always need someone to fill that position. So now, then, we feel like Teresa is very suitable for that position, and we're proud to put her in that

Teresa Kelley

The promotion marks a step up in city employment for Kelley, and she's glad to have been given the opportunity, especially since she had already been doing many of the tasks with which she has now officially "I'm happy to do it, because like Barbara said, I've done some council meetings, and I enjoy going back and digging for stuff as far as looking up the records," said Kelley. Moving forward, Kelley both the elections and clerical likely be required to take classes fairly regularly to receive up-todate training as the years go by.

This year marks a departure from past city elections, as the county and city elections will no longer be held jointly, so the City of Hiawassee will be responsible for its own city council elections to be held at city hall.

"We do not have machines, we have paper ballots," said Mayor Mathis. "They'll have to be voting with paper ballots. We're situated to where we can set it up to have locked doors, and where we can have areas for people to vote in.

"We're having to get all of this together. It's ordered, and it should be here in the next few days. We'll have little portable booths and have everything that we have to have. This is a learning session. We've gotten into it this year and we're having to find out all of this."

Kelley has been deeply entrenched in the community all her life, and she enjoys spending time with her three children, four granddaughters and great-grandson. As a lifelong member of the community, she looks forward to her added responsibilities in her local government.

"It's a real learning experience for me, and I've learned a lot with just being able to talk to Rick. and for him to give me direction and tell me what I need to do and where to look for things, and how to look for things," said Kelley. "I'm very thankful to be here. I enjoy it. Everybody has a good working relationship, and it's a good environment."